Inclusive education means students and special needs students learn while sharing the same physical space and interacting socially and academically. It's not either or simply sharing the same physical space, but engaging in completely different activities, is not inclusive. Because of this, it's important for a school's whole community to understand inclusion and make it a goal. School administration, teachers, parents and kids all have to buy into its value. When this happens, everyone benefits. The importance of inclusive education At its core, inclusive education is about appreciating each individual's differences and unique set of strengths and limitations. It's not just an education philosophy: It's an important life skill. Children grow into adults who live in a world filled with people different from themselves: learning how to interact and work with these people is a key accomplishment of childhood. The teachers have started extra classes for those students who face great difficulties in reading, writing and basic math's. The teachers work very hard to bring the previous academic level of each student after the covid time. The inclusive school provides good quality value-based education to the children with disabilities, without disabilities who are from poor and marginalized families.

2.3 - Teaching- Learning Process

2.3.1 - Student centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning and problem solving methodologies are used for enhancing learning experiences

Student centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning and problem solving methodologies are used for enhancing learning experiences

The University practices a teaching methodology which focuses on imparting education through a student centric approach. This methodology helps to transform students from being relegated to the role of passive recipients to active and involved stake holders, apart from boosting their confidence and encouraging independence. Since students vary in their ability to comprehend and absorb it is not possible to address the needs and expectations of individual students and expect a uniform learning outcome from them all in a teacher centric class. The teacher facilitates learning by allowing each individual student to comprehend at their personal level by ensuring their involvement in class activities so that they can absorb and grasp information at their own pace.

Courses of the University are defined highlighting course objectives, programme specific objectives and programme outcomes. This provides a comprehensive understanding to the student right at the beginning of the course as to what should be the primary focus. It also helps them in self-evaluating their performance at the conclusion of the course. Feedback of the Course and teachers, given by students at the end of each semester provides an opportunity to identify any lacunae which can then be addressed.

Teachers make classes as interactive as possible and encourage innovative thought and novel interpretations. Audio- Visual methodology, Language Lab, Google Classroom, Industrial Visits, Field Work and Projects are some of the means utilized by the Departments to provide experiential and participative learning.

Internal assessments are so planned so as to encourage students to work independently. Written Assignments are required to be submitted by students and these need to be done individually by researching on the given topic so as to enhance confidence, develop writing skills and hone style, apart from inculcating an interest in research activities. Seminars, which form the second component of internal assessment, help students present their assignments before the entire class helping them overcome stage fear and develop oratory prowess.

Apart from these, in addition to the doctoral research programmes, the subjects/courses in BEd & MEd involve field work, internship, projects and so on which help students acquire experiential learning and problem solving ability.

Discussions and debates on contemporary issues are encouraged so that students can reflect and analyse by eliciting responses to the subject under discussion. Ability Enhancement, Generic and Skill Enhancement courses are offered to provide and prepare students for life. Non-CGPA courses include sports, and arts like calligraphy are provided to evolve aesthetics of the students. Youth festival;s and youth training camps organized by university for the students to participate, integrate and learn.

Student representation in administration is an important initiative taken by the University. Representatives of students serve as members on committees like Internal Quality Assurance Cell, Internal Complaints Committee, Grievance Cell in order to involve them in the decision making process and maintain transparency apart from inculcating a sense of responsibility in them.

Environment education (EE) refers to organized efforts to teach how natural environment function and particularly, how human beings can manage behavior and ecosystem to live sustainably. It is a multi-disciplinary field integrating disciplines such as biology, chemistry, physics, ecology, earth science , atmospheric science, mathematics and geography.

Environmental education focuses on:

1. Engaging with citizens of all demographics to.
2. Think critically, ethically and creatively when valuating environment issues.
3. Make educated judgments about those environment issues.
4. Develop skills and a commitment to act independently and collectively to sustain and enhance the environment.
5. To enhance their appreciation of the environment, resulting in positive environmental behavioral change.

Inclusive education means students and special needs students learn while sharing the same physical space and interacting socially and academically. It's not either or simply sharing the same physical space, but engaging in completely different activities, is not inclusive. Because of this, it's important for a school's whole community to understand inclusion and make it a goal. School administration, teachers, parents and kids all have to buy into its value. When this happens, everyone benefits. The importance of inclusive education At its core, inclusive education is about appreciating each individual's differences and unique set of strengths and limitations. It's not just an education philosophy: It's an important life skill. Children grow into adults who live in a world filled with people different from themselves: learning how to inter act and work with these people is a key accomplishment of childhood. The teachers have started extra classes for those students who face great difficulties in reading, writing and basic math's. The teachers work very hard to bring the previous academic level of each student after the covid time. The inclusive school provides good quality value-based education to the children with disabilities, without disabilities who are from poor and marginalized families.

2.3 - Teaching- Learning Process

2.3.1 - Student centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning and problem solving methodologies are used for enhancing learning experiences

Student centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning and problem solving methodologies are used for enhancing learning experiences

The University practices a teaching methodology which focuses on imparting education through a student centric approach. This methodology helps to transform students from being relegated to the role of passive recipients to active and involved stake holders, apart from boosting their confidence and encouraging independence. Since students vary in their ability to comprehend and absorb it is not possible to address the needs and expectations of individual students and expect a uniform learning outcome from them all in a teacher centric class. The teacher facilitates learning by allowing each individual student to comprehend at their personal level by ensuring their involvement in class activities so that they can absorb and grasp information at their own pace.

Courses of the University are defined highlighting course objectives, programme specific objectives and programme outcomes. This provides a comprehensive understanding to the student right at the beginning of the course as to what should be the primary focus. It also helps them in self-evaluating their performance at the conclusion of the course. Feedback of the Course and teachers, given by students at the end of each semester provides an opportunity to identify any lacunae which can then be addressed.

Teachers make classes as interactive as possible and encourage innovative thought and novel interpretations. Audio- Visual methodology, Language Lab, Google Classroom, Industrial Visits, Field Work and Projects are some of the means utilized by the Departments to provide experiential and participative learning.

Internal assessments are so planned so as to encourage students to work independently. Written Assignments are required to be submitted by students and these need to be done individually by researching on the given topic so as to enhance confidence, develop writing skills and hone style, apart from inculcating an interest in research activities. Seminars, which form the second component of internal assessment, help students present their assignments before the entire class helping them overcome stage fear and develop oratory prowess.

Apart from these, in addition to the doctoral research programmes, the subjects/courses in BEd & MEd involve field work, internship, projects and so on which help students acquire experiential learning and problem solving ability.

Discussions and debates on contemporary issues are encouraged so that students can reflect and analyse by eliciting responses to the subject under discussion. Ability Enhancement, Generic and Skill Enhancement courses are offered to provide and prepare students for life. Non-CGPA courses include sports, and arts like calligraphy are provided to evolve aesthetics of the students. youth festival;s and youth training camps organized by university for the students to participate, integrate and learn.

Student representation in administration is an important initiative taken by the University. Representatives of students serve as members on committees like Internal Quality Assurance Cell, Internal Complaints Committee, Grievance Cell in order to involve them in the decision making process and maintain transparency apart from inculcating a sense of responsibility in them.
